

StoredIQ Advanced Deployment

Overview

StoredIQ Advanced Deployment service is designed to quickly enable customers with the StoredIQ Intelligent Information Management Platform. With a formal, proven deployment process that includes design planning, onsite installation and training, Advanced Deployment guarantees a rapid and successful implementation of the StoredIQ platform. In addition, thorough knowledge transfer and training for end users, IT administrators, and management are provided to ensure effective and efficient use of the product. Using the Advanced Deployment service, the entire process is accelerated, typically executed in a matter of weeks.

Business Design

In the first part of Advanced Deployment, solution architects and industry experts develop a best practices implementation strategy, assessing the IT environment and business needs of the customer.

Installation & Configuration

Following the Design phase, solution architects arrive onsite to install and configure the product according to the design specifications. During this process, StoredIQ works collaboratively with IT personnel, documenting all configuration settings and ongoing management requirements to ensure proper knowledge transfer.

Training

StoredIQ offers a variety of training options for IT, legal, security, and records management personnel. As a part of the Advanced Deployment services, StoredIQ will customize training and documentation to the customer's environment and business workflows. In addition, StoredIQ also prepares end-user and IT administrator guides as well as shadow programs to ensure best practices.

Support

StoredIQ is dedicated to providing timely, high-quality customer support. The Customer Support Group provides a variety of resources and assistance 24 x 7 x 365. Learn more at www.storediq.com.
